Three Mo' Tenors, musical arrives at NYC's Little Shubert Theater this Fall

After receiving rave reviews and playing to sold out houses across the country and internationally, Three Mo' Tenors will arrive this fall at the Little Shubert Theatre (422 W. 42nd Street), it was recently announced by producer Willette Murphy Klausner.

Conceived, directed and choreographed by Marion J. Caffey, the exciting musical event begins previews on September 12th with an official opening night set for September 27th.

Three Mo' Tenors brings the house down with thrilling performances of Opera, Broadway, Jazz, Gospel, Soul, Spirituals and Blues music. The show begins with Verdi, and soon the music of Motown, Ray Charles and Usher has the tenors grooving on the stage. The production is an extraordinary musical event...all music and all passion.

Three Mo' Tenors has been captivating audiences around the globe since 2001, when the show was televised on PBS "Great Performances" and RCA released the recording of the show. Standing ovations have greeted the show everywhere they have appeared, including Chicago, Los Angeles, Detroit, Toronto, and even in Scotland (The Edinburgh Festival Fringe) and Armenia (hosted by The U.S. State Department).

Most recently, the musical appeared at The Apollo Theater in Harlem with Bishop T.D. Jakes in "An Evening Without Limits," "A Taste of Three Mo' Tenors," a live CD recorded in Chicago at Nederlander's Oriental Theater, is available on CD Baby and iTunes.

Because of the extraordinary vocal demands of the show, Three Mo' Tenors features six tenors, who rotate three at a time in alternating performances. The musical follows the precedent of major opera houses and Broadway productions. The cast includes: Kenneth Alston, James N. Berger, Jr. Ramone Diggs, Duane A. Moody, Victor Roberson and Phumzile Sojola.

"The tenors embody a musical repertoire of extraordinary breadth. Through song and dance, we hope to elevate the stature of African-American musical performers in the world. Our goal is to sing our way into history," said Marion J. Caffey. Tickets for Three Mo' Tenors
